

Society for Mathematical Psychology

CALL FOR EMAIL NOMINATIONS

Computational Brain & Behavior Outstanding Paper Award (2019)

The Society for Mathematical Psychology announces a new annual award for the most outstanding paper published in the journal Computational Brain & Behavior in the preceding three years.

For the 2019 award, publications dated 2018 - 2019 will be considered (dated back to the launch of the journal).

Nominations should include exact title, authors, and publication date Computational Brain & Behavior.

The authors nominated need not be members of the Society.

Self-nominations will not be considered.

The winner will be selected by a special committee appointed by the Executive Committee and in consultation with the Editor of Computational Brain & Behavior. The winner will be announced at the 52nd Annual Mathematical Psychology Society Meeting in 2019.

Please submit all materials by April 30, 2019, to Secretary/Treasurer Leslie Blaha via EMAIL to the email address: info@mathpsych.org with subject header: 2019 CBB Outstanding Paper Award Nomination <nominee name>.

The Computational Brain & Behavior Outstanding Paper Award is sponsored by Springer

Springer

<http://www.mathpsych.org>